

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sliding track assembly includes two side boards formed inside the case of a computer, and a plurality of circular locating members symmetrically mounted on the inner surface of each side board to define a narrow gap on each side board for use as a sliding way for receiving a mobile PC board without producing much friction upon insertion of the mobile PC board.